

TRB provides leadership in transportation through research and information exchange, conducted in a setting that is objective, interdisciplinary, and multimodal.

Your gift can make a difference by supporting TRB's mission or can be designated for specific uses:

- Providing fellowships for young people and other targeted groups to travel to participate in TRB meetings and activities
- Contributing to a fund to begin addressing new and emerging transportation issues
- Establishing an endowment fund to support self-initiated TRB policy studies
- Establishing a special program, such as a Leadership Development Program in Transportation Research
- Funding the National Academies' Mirzayan Fellows program or other fellowships for short-term internships at TRB
- Supporting the existing TRB Minority Student Fellows Program

Here are some gifts that can make a difference

Gifts from a Will or Trust	Making a trust or will does not affect your cash flow during your lifetime. In addition, you can change this type of gift if your situation or goals change.
Beneficiary Designations	Naming the TRB as a beneficiary of a retirement plan is an easy way to make a planned gift. You will continue to benefit from these assets during your lifetime.
Life Insurance	If you have an unneeded life insurance policy, you can donate it to us and take a tax deduction or you can simply name the TRB as a beneficiary.
Appreciated Securities	If you own securities that you wish to sell, there are ways to make a gift that will not reduce your cash flow. You may also benefit from capital gains tax avoidance by giving rather than selling these assets.
